St. Akron Had School for Silents Nearly 100 Years Ago, Old History Tells Story

People of East Akron, who have wondered why this section of the city has so many silents, not knowing of their friendly connections with the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co., will be interested in knowing that one of the first schools for deaf people in the state, was organized in East Akron, then called Middlebury, for the purpose of educating three deaf girls living here.

The girls were Mary, Bessie and Martha Bradley, daughters of Justice Bradley, who lived in a brick house at 26 North Case Ave., about the year 1825. Bradley operated a flour mill at Kent. The house on Case Avenue is still standing.

The account of the first deaf school is carried in a book called "Summit County for Over Fifty Years," published years ago by one Samuel A. Lane.

Mention is made of the effort that was made that year, to provide a school for the deaf girls.

A school was finally organized in 1827 for the instruction of deaf-mutes. Colonel Smith, a young mute living in Middlebury and a graduate of the American school for the deaf at Hartford, Conn., was secured to teach the children.

The sign language was the method in use. This school was opened in a room at the house of the benevolent Alpha Wright, one mile south of Tallmadge. The children were gladly received at the school, but other deaf children could not be found in Tallmadge township.

The Ohio state legislature in 1828 appropriated $100 for its support. The Tallmadge pupils were transferred to the school for the deaf at Columbus in 1829.

Mr. Smith's school discontinued after two years' existence. Doubtless it was the first deaf day school in Ohio and Mr. Smith was probably also the first deaf-mute in Ohio to teach the pupils in Tallmadge township—E. Akron Review, March 27.

The only man who has everything he wants in this world is the man who has nothing.

PORTLAND, OREGON

Portland weather is the same as always. Some days when you start putting on spring clothes, you find it cold and rainy the very minute you start for a walk in what you thought would be nice sunny weather. The sun comes out one minute and hides behind a cloud the next. Is it any wonder that many of the Portland deaf are down sick with flu, pneumonia, and neuralgia?

Mrs. James Naylor is practicing motherhood. Hoping to someday mother a large family of children. She is now trying to see if she can take care of twenty little baby chicks. So far none of her adopted children have died. We hope they will all survive in spite of her inexperience in mothering. Should they grow up, some one knows a good place to drop in on Sunday just about dinner time!

Mrs. Nelson's ducks will continue to live as long as they are able to hatch out little ducklets. How much longer will Mrs. Deligio have to postpone her first taste of a duck?

Adam Alt left Portland for Estacada last week to work there a short time. It is thought he will return here again sometime in April.

Mrs. G. Gilbert is again on our well list. A short time ago she contracted the mumps and was at her home in Vancouver. We are all glad she has fully recovered and able to attend the clubs and socials again.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerde are going around prouder than ever. The reason? Why, Paul Oadtek Gerde has just cut his first tooth. Of course, you know Paul Oadtek. He is our famous convention baby, having been born during the first Oregon Association of the Deaf Convention, which was held in Salem last July. He is now almost nine months old, the same age as the Association.

A birthday surprise party was given to Ralph Pickett Saturday evening, March 11th. About sixteen of the younger deaf of Portland were present. Mrs. Pearl Spieler and Mrs. Deligio were hostesses. Many interesting games were played, but the most successful one was an aeroplane trip, which, according to the victims, gave them a trip within an inch of the ceiling.

Thelma Fay, Mrs. Fay's youngest daughter, received a beautiful doll for a birthday present from her mother's friends, Mr. and Mrs. Giffen, the latter having been a guest of the Fays during the winter.

Dana Acuff, who has been boarding with the Reichles, returned to McMinnville to work last week. His many friends in Portland are missing him and hope he will soon return, if only for a visit.

The Portland Silents Basketball team have disbanded for the season. They met defeat in their last game with the Salem State School, the score being 26 to 22. Next season, however, we hope the Portland team will have the opportunity for more practice. Well, cheer up, boys, you may win all the games next time.

We deeply regret the death of Mrs. George Kredt's sister, Mrs. Laura Anderson, who passed away March first. Selma Hagan has also been sick, but is now much better.

Mrs. Fred Delany has been seriously ill with neuralgia in her side. Last week the S. F. L. Club sent her a bunch of carnations to remind her how much she was missed. She is somewhat better now, and we are all looking forward to the time she will again be able to rejoin her friends.

The S. F. L. Club held a successful Basketball in the Alisky Building, March 18th. Mrs. H. P. Nelson won the first prize for the prettiest basket, Mrs. A. Kautz secured the second prize for the ugliest one, and Mrs. Hastings received the highest bid. It was difficult to decide the prize winner, for many unique baskets made their appearance. Shamrocks were quite numerous, and other baskets represented an Oregon Boot, a bed, a handsome basket advertising the S. F. L. Club, a Portland Rose, comic baskets, and others too numerous to mention here. About fifty deaf people were present, a few hearing men, and the usual number of children and babies. Besides the basket lunch, coffee was served to the guests.

Miss Charlotte Coffin entertained the young deaf people at her home March 18th. In spite of the rainy weather the party was quite successful.

Fashion editors take notice: Mrs. Nelson of Portland will soon be among the fashion leaders. A pair of real vampire ear-rings are dangling from her ears. Since she has proclaimed this the latest fashion, Mrs. Bud Hastings has also adopted ear-rings, and it is possible that Mrs. Deligio will follow suit.

Mrs. Naylor also refuses to be backward, and has now bobbed her hair a la Irene Castle Tremaine. At least half a dozen of the deaf ladies in Oregon now wear their hair bobbed, and the rest may soon follow the fashion. Anyway we of the bobbed hair hope so. Soon Portland instead of Paris will be the creator of fashions.

Portland has some week end visitors again. This time they are Mr. and Mrs. Johnson, of McMinnville; Mrs. Johnson's mother, Mrs. Kershaw, of Reedville, Mrs. Ruby Whare, of Yoncalla, and Mrs. Agnes Peterson, of Eddyville.

Mr. T. C. Mueller, of Vancouver, Washington, is a wise old owl. He has discovered that the writer possesses literary ambition. Alas, and alack, it is true! She has not, however, any desire to outshine T. C. M., for many of the Portlanders know what a wonderful fictitious writer he would make if he devoted all his spare time to writing.

For example, to show that he can make a fiction paragraph in a non-fiction paper, the writer wishes to state that except for an unsigned article written in the Silent Worker for October, the other two "articles" were, as Mr. Mueller can see if he reads 'em, mere fiction stories, as fictitious as they possibly could be. His last statement she is puzzled about, for she doesn't know how long ago he means by RECENT LY. Still she will admit that she lost her hearing only a short time ago, just fifteen years to be exact. She can't hope to equal Mr. Mueller in being deaf the same number of years he has managed to add to his age since he first lost his hearing. Indeed she admits she was about nine and a half before the catastrophe, if it should be called by this name, occurred. Her public schooling after the third grade happened to be private teachers and the Portland Day School for the Deaf, though she managed eight months at college before her eyes threatened to give out. So, T. C., you see your facts are a little ambiguous, aren't they? But never mind, we of Oregon know all about the facts of the paragraphs you write, and a little fictitious matter only makes 'em more interesting and readable.

Otherwise we might turn away from your columns and sigh: "Oh, my goodness, I know all about this." You're a better writer than the Portland reporter, T. C., for you give 'em something to talk about. My cap, if I were one, would be off to you.

Mr. and Mrs. Garberson have moved again. This time they have a house at 226 Cook Avenue, being so near to a car line and town, they may except friends to visit them often than when living in Linn-ton, Oregon. However they are still thinking of moving, since their present house in somewhat too large for so small a family.

Mr. and Mrs. Reichle took dinner with the Reeves in Vancouver Sunday afternoon, March 19th.

Mrs. Deligio called to take the Nelsons to church Sunday, but finding Mrs. Nelson still in the land of dreams, she decided to yield to temptation and stay to an eleven o'clock breakfast. At eleven thirty Mr. and Mrs. Jorg called, and shortly afterwards Mr. Hastings dropped in. As Mrs. Deligio had to leave before twelve fifteen, she does not know who the next caller was, but believes it safe to say that about half a dozen more dropped in before dark.

Only members of the S. F. L. Club know what the initials stand for, but it doesn't hinder others guessing at the name. Some have guessed it to mean "Society of Foolish Ladies," "Searchers for Liquor," and "Some Female Lemons." The real name?

AKRON, O.

Mrs. Bertha Smith, hearing sister of Martin Stelzer, is en route to New York City, where she will sail for Germany on a German Lloyd liner, March 29th. She will be gone for a long time.

Michael Dolan returned to work at Goodyear recently, after a lay-off on account of the gripe.

Mrs. Radabaugh, of Mt. Vernon, recently returned home after a visit with her daughter, Mrs. Wm. Reinhold.

Mrs. Margaret Morris Feife, of Youngstown, visited her friend, Mrs. John Leopold, recently. While in the city she called upon the other deaf friends and relatives.

Mrs. Feife was Maggie Morris in her school days in Columbus at the School for the Deaf.

Sadness followed joy in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. McCort, Goodyear Heights, who had a little son, Daniel, to lose him by death through croup, March 10th. Burial was made in East Akron Cemetery March 14th. The Silent Colony extends sympathy to the bereaved parents.

Charles Blackburn has been working at the Blue Pond Tire Shop in the east end lately.

The Akron Division, N. F. S. D., gave a banquet and smoker to its members only, which was one of the best affairs ever pulled off by the young but hustling "No. 55," under the able generalship of Brother "Bum" Schowe and his assistants. The programme was rich and variable, and nothing "bum" about it, only the Fraternal goat had to be discarded, as Akron is still a 12 o'clock town, and it was close to midnight when certain fell on the last act, and the Frats scurried to catch their street cars and jitneys. Over 78 Frats attended, which is also a record of itself, when it is considered that the Goodyear-Firestone championship basketball game was held only a few blocks away the same evening and many Frats had to forsake the banquet, as they either were in the lineup, or their desire to witness the game was too strong to be overcome by the promise of a "big feed and fete." The next social will be held April 15th, with Brother Dennis Wickline chairman.

William Flynn, Mrs. Fred Wilson and Joe Mullaly, of Youngstown, motored to East Akron Sunday afternoon and called upon Edward Flynn.

F. X. Zitznick had an enjoyable trip to Cleveland the week-end recently.

Mrs. Ella William was recently taken to the home of Mr. Art Shaw following treatment received at City hospital for injuries she received in October in an automobile accident. She is not able to walk as yet.

Ivan Jenkins is nursing his injured finger, received while at work at the plant of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company several weeks ago.

William H. Wherry had the misfortune to trip in walking at his home Saturday night, and received a black eye. However, he continues to work at Goodyear as usual, in spite of his disfigured face.

Mrs. Joseph Knapp is confined to her home, due to a badly sprained foot, received in a fall at her home recently. She is the mother of Mrs. F. T. Taylor, of same address.

A recent visitor at the Silent Club at Goodyear Hall was Orville Holly, of Ravenna. He comes to East Akron from Ravenna often to visit his sister and friends.

Tallmadge township, near East Akron, had a school for the silents nearly 100 years ago, the old history tells a story People of East Akron, who have wondered why this section of the city, has so many silents not knowing of their friendly connections with the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company, will be interested in knowing that one of the first schools for deaf people in the State was organized in East Akron, then called Middlebury, for the purpose of educating three deaf girls living near Tallmadge.

school is carried in a book called "Summit County for Over Fifty Years," published years ago by one Samuel A. Lane.

Mention is made of the effort that was made that year, to provide a school for the deaf girls.

A school was finally organized in 1827 for the instruction of deaf-mutes. Colonel Smith, a young mute living in Middlebury and a graduate of the American school for the deaf at Hartford, Ct., was secured to teach the children.

This school was opened in a room at the house of the benevolent Alpha Wright, one mile south of Tallmadge. The children were gladly received at the school, but other deaf children could not be found in Tallmadge township. The Ohio State legislature in 1828 appropriated $100 for its support. The Tallmadge pupils were transferred to the School for the Deaf at Columbus in 1829.

Mr. Smith's School discontinued. Doubtless it was the first deaf day school in Ohio, and Mr. Smith was probably also the first deaf-mute in Ohio to teach the pupils in Tallmadge township.

AKRONITE.

Years ago, 30 of them to be exact, a name flashed across the baseball horizon and with advancing years became very famous, because the owner of that name was one of the great outfielders of his day. The name served to identify W. E. Hoy, who play a sterling brand of ball for Washington, Cincinnati, Louisville in the nineties and saw service with a few other teams in the present century before giving up the game.

And now Hoy has given the world a son who is beginning to revive the name in athletics. Carson Hoy, a sophomore in the Liberal Arts College of the University of Cincinnati, this season has won a place on the U. C. basketball team. Young Hoy now gets into almost every game played by the Bearcats as a forward. He is one of the few players to make the team in this first year on the squad at University of Cincinnati.

Before entering U. C. Hoy played with the Mt. Healthy High School team. His father, still hale and hearty, has made his home in that suburb for a number of years.—Ex.

William Flynn, Mrs. Fred Wilson and Joe Mullaly, of Youngstown, motored to East Akron Sunday afternoon and called upon Edward Flynn.

F. X. Zitznick had an enjoyable trip to Cleveland the week-end recently.

Mrs. Ella William was recently taken to the home of Mr. Art Shaw following treatment received at City hospital for injuries she received in October in an automobile accident. She is not able to walk as yet.

Ivan Jenkins is nursing his injured finger, received while at work at the plant of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company several weeks ago.

William H. Wherry had the misfortune to trip in walking at his home Saturday night, and received a black eye. However, he continues to work at Goodyear as usual, in spite of his disfigured face.

Mrs. Joseph Knapp is confined to her home, due to a badly sprained foot, received in a fall at her home recently. She is the mother of Mrs. F. T. Taylor, of same address.

A recent visitor at the Silent Club at Goodyear Hall was Orville Holly, of Ravenna. He comes to East Akron from Ravenna often to visit his sister and friends.

Tallmadge township, near East Akron, had a school for the silents nearly 100 years ago, the old history tells a story People of East Akron, who have wondered why this section of the city, has so many silents not knowing of their friendly connections with the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company, will be interested in knowing that one of the first schools for deaf people in the State was organized in East Akron, then called Middlebury, for the purpose of educating three deaf girls living near Tallmadge.

On March 29th, Governor Miller signed the bill that makes pupils of Institutions for the Deaf State pupils, and removes the stigma of charity in connection with their appointment.

Heretofore there have been two classes of pupils—State and County. County pupils were appointed by the supervisors or overseers of the poor of the several counties where such children resided. They could not come under the educational department of the state until they reached the age of twelve years, though they could be pupils at the age of five years. This in a certain sense impoverished them.

The Institutions for the Deaf of the State have worked in harmony, with an unanimous desire to have the law amended.

During the past three years a committee appointed at a conference of schools for the deaf of the State—Dr. Harris Taylor, Supt. Edward C. Rider, and Principal Isaac B. Gardner—have been working to the end that the law be so amended as to place all deaf children upon the same equal footing. It was uphill work, and they deserve to be congratulated upon their success.

Excerpts from the law as amended are subjoined.

"Persons eligible as pupils to institutions for instruction of the deaf and dumb. All deaf and dumb persons resident in this state, of the age of five years and upwards, who are not now under appointment as county pupils in one of the deaf and dumb institutions of the state in pursuance of sections nine hundred and seventy-seven, and nine hundred and seventy-eight and nine hundred and seventy-nine of this article, and who shall have been resident in this state for one year immediately preceding the application, or if a minor, whose parent or parents, or, if an orphan, whose nearest friend shall have been resident in this state for one year immediately preceding the application, shall be eligible to appointment as state pupils in one of the deaf and dumb institutions of this state, authorized by law to receive such pupils.

"Each pupil so received into any of the institutions aforesaid shall be provided with board, lodging and tuition; and the directors of the institution shall receive an annual appropriation for each pupil so provided for, in quarterly payments, to be paid by the treasurer of the state, on the warrant of the comptroller, to the treasurer of said institution, on his presenting a bill showing the actual time and number of pupils attending the institution, which bill shall be signed by the president and secretary of the institution, and verified by their oaths.

"The regular term of instruction of any such deaf and dumb pupil shall be twelve years, or until the pupil shall have attained the age of eighteen years before the expiration of twelve years from the beginning of such term; provided, however, that the number of years that any deaf and dumb pupil may have attended such an institution as a county pupil shall be counted as part of such term. The commissioner of education may, in his discretion, extend the term of any pupil for a period not exceeding three years. It shall also be lawful for the commissioner of education to continue such pupils as state pupils for an additional period of three years for the purpose of pursuing or completing a course of study in the higher branches of learning. The number of pupils continued each year in such course shall not exceed thirty in any one institution, and such pupils must be recommended by the trustees of the institution in which they are attendants, before such extension of time is granted.

"Children placed in any such institution for the deaf and dumb, pursuant to sections nine hundred and seventy-three, shall be maintained therein at the expense of the state."

MISS KATHARINE E. BARRY, who devised the Five State System of teaching language to the deaf, died on Saturday, March 18th, at Colorado Springs, after an illness of three weeks. For the past seventeen years she had been head teacher of the deaf at the Colorado Institution.

The Colorado School has been a target for Death during the past year—Dr. Argo, Mrs. Argo, Miss Barry—and Death loves a shining mark.

Gallaudet College.

The Co-eds held their annual Indoor Meet in their gymnasium on Friday afternoon at three o'clock. Dr. Hall, Miss Weiss, Dean of the College girls, and Miss Gaarder, Principal of Kendall School, acted as judges. The winners of first, second and third places, were, in the order of events, as follows:—

Indian Clubs—Dodd, '22; Clarkson, '24; Hausmann, '22.
Wand Drill—Sandberg, '25; Dodd, '22; Earsley, '22.
Swedish Exercises—Leclerc, '25; Earsley, '22; Suttka, '25.
Jumping (for height)—Kimbro, P.C.; Moss, '23; and Dibble (tied for second place).
Dumb Bells—Leclerc, '25; Dodd, '22; Earsley, '22.
Boom (for form) Sandberg, '25; Earsley, '22; Suttka, '25.
Horse (for form) Sandberg, '25; Moss, '23; Curry, P.C.
Parallel Bars—Hausmann, '22; Sandberg, '25; Suttka, '25.
Window Ladder—Dodd, '22; Pusrin, '23; Halverson, '25.
Japanese Crab Relay Race—Won by Preparatory Class.
Highest number of individual points: Emma Sandberg, 18; Julia Dodd, 16; Sydney Leclerc, 10.
Points by classes: Freshmen, 34; Seniors, 30; Juniors, 8; Preparatory, 6; Sophomores, 3.
The cup went to the Freshman Class.

The G. C. W. A. A. decided to do without its annual banquet, but in its stead had an informal gathering in the Fowler Hall reading-room, Saturday evening, April 1st, at 8 o'clock. Basketball "G's" were distributed. The Varsity "G" went to Helen Moss, '23; Minnie Sowell, '25; Sydney Leclerc, '25; and Emma Sandberg, '25. Honorary "G" went to Mary Klaitis, '24 (manager) Mr. Hughes, (coach). Presenting was made by Miss Rauch, Physical Director of the girls.

Preparations for camp are well on their way. It had been previously decided to seek a new location. The shortness of the vacation and the fact that the regular trolley service to Great Falls on the Maryland side had been discontinued made the step advisable. The camp leaders went to Great Falls and decided to recommend a new site on the Virginia side. At a meeting of the student body their recommendation was considered and accepted. The camp period begins on April 20th and ends on the 25th.

Prof. Hughes gave an interesting sermon in chapel hall on Sunday, April 2d. His topic was "Luck or Labor?"

Official photographer Lindholm is at last making headway in his photographic work.

Once again doings on the Green are being given adequate pictorial record.

Noah Downes, ex-'23, is in Washington for a month's stay. He has entered into a contract to play out-field during the summer for a Frederick professional base team, beginning about the middle of May. Meanwhile he will practice with the varsity men on Garlic field and give pointers on how to slam the ball into the cornfields. Downes has been playing basket ball on a professional team.

Gallaudet 2 C. U. 14

Gallaudet journeyed to Brookland last Wednesday afternoon for a game with the Catholic University nine. We emerged from the fray with the short end of a 14 to 2 score.

With a team of veterans, Catholic University was able to hit the ball hard and to field brilliantly. It was the latter that kept our score down. Our boys did not feel "at home" on the University field, for they did not field as good as during practice games on Garlic Field. Still the fact remains that they put up a good, aggressive battle against a team that is balanced in every department.

Boatwright and Rose made up our battery for the first four innings. The University lads touched Boaty for four runs. Lahn then took the mound, and his offerings also pleased the C. U. players. When Wallace took the mound, the C. U. squad had a general feast at his expense.

While this game may not be pleasing to many of us, we should encourage the team on. Our lads touched the veteran pitchers of the home team for a number of hits including a triple by Lahn. Only a few strikeouts were credited to the C. U. slub artists. This fact is greatly encouraging, as our hitting has been weak in past games. If improvements on the team continue we will have a classy team within a short time. The team played good ball and is deserving of much praise for the game fight it put up against such odds. The team lined up as follows: Rose, c.; Boatwright, p.; Lahn, 1st p.; Bradley, 1st; Danofsky, 2nd; Seipp, ss.; Hawkins, 3b; Wallace, rf, p.; Markel, cf.

LOS ANGELES.

During the latter part of last month, Los Angeles was in grip of the coldest weather experienced since 1913. The frosty weather kept people indoors and froze the water pipes in several places, damaging the oranges in the Southern Zone, except several places, where they were saved by smudging. It would have been much worse but for the coming of the rain, which continued for nearly a week. The weather has been changeable with little sunshine. We are again enjoying our usual nice weather. There is lots of beautiful snow on the peaks of the mountains.

On Thursday morning, the 9th ult., Jeremiah P. Leigner passed away peacefully. He was eighty-six years old when he died, the cause being old age. Besides his widow, he is survived by a daughter and a son. He and his wife had lived together more than fifty-five years, after they had both graduated from the deaf school at Philadelphia. The funeral of the deceased was unusually large, and Rev. N. J. Jensen performed the ceremonies.

The closing of the St. Paul's Episcopal Church services on South Olive, opposite Pershing Square, was caused a couple of weeks ago by the beginning of the "tearing down" of the Church in preparation for the building of a new $7,000,000 hotel. But the church services are to be held as usual, at another church, until the new church on 6th and Figueroa is completed.

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Barrett have moved into a cottage at No. 4614 Van Ness Avenue, where we found them seated before a nice fireplace, their dreams of becoming Los Angeles citizens having come true. They both taught at the Iowa School for the Deaf for several years.

Mrs. J. B. McCurry has moved his shoe shop to 110 East Eighth Street, where he predicts a better business than at his old place. There are many business buildings in his neighborhood. He is a Long Beach resident.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hultene moved out to Venice a few weeks ago, where they are enjoying the salt air of the ocean until they get ready to move into their new handsome home. Mr. Hultene is lucky that he does not pay cafares, because he goes and comes with his employer in his auto daily except Sundays. His employer lives one block away from him.

Falling to find a suitable position for some time after his lay off from the Goodyear plant, Mr. Barthe had to shake off the dust of Los Angeles and return north, taking his lovely wife along. The climate is not at all fault, but the labor is the direct cause.

Mr. Charles Allen is certainly fortunate in having secured a remunerative position in the city post office, and hopes to stick to the position until he gets a pension. He was formerly with the Goodyear factory. Good luck to him.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Tilley, of San Francisco, and Mrs. M. McDermid, of British Columbia, are stopping at one of the best hotels in town for a month, renewing their old acquaintances and taking in the Southern trips. They were very conspicuous figures at the clubs. Mr. Tilley is well-known as the former railroad mail clerk, on the Owl train between San Francisco and Los Angeles, all over the coast. Mrs. McDermid is quite well-known as the widow of the late superintendent of the Winnipeg School for the Deaf.

Mr. Jacoby Beck, formerly of Oakland, but now a full-fledged Angeleno, had no trouble securing a steady job, and also a suitable cottage for his family, who are coming down to join him. That Oakland lost him and Los Angeles gained him is the old saying.

Mr. J. R. Lipsitt took advantage of a week's lay-off up in the North, by coming down here from San Francisco by auto, and renewed his old acquaintances. He visited the clubs too. He is an open-hearted and whole-souled fellow. He is a full-fledged Golden Gate resident, and therefore the climate failed to force him to give up that place.

Mrs. E. M. Price's sister, accompanied by her husband and son, has arrived from the National City safely, and was exceedingly glad to see her after nine years' separation. She was so surprised to see so many changes Los Angeles has made since she left for that place.

Following the example of the deaf auto owners, Robert Kett recently bought a second hand "Dodge" and found a great deal of pleasure in the auto. Ever since he has driven it as good as the deaf auto owners.

Mr. John W. Barrett's mother died of old age down in San Diego. Sympathy with him is ours.

The mother of Mrs. U. Cool has been seriously ill in one of the city hospitals for quite a long time, but is slowly improving at this writing. That is why Mrs. Cool is unable to attend her club for some time.

Mr. M. J. Mathis has just recovered from his attack of a "nervous break down," and though still a bit weak from the burden of his varied business, he will be in the harness again in a few days.

Mr. E. C. Ould was down to Newport Beach on a week's combined pleasure and business trip the week before last. He made a brief visit with his old silent farm neighbor while there.

Mr. and Mrs. V. Weller, formerly of Chicago, are building a double cottage in the western section, the one for their daughter and her young husband and the other for themselves. Though Mr. Weller got a telegram from Chicago last week urging him to return to his old position, and is on the fence as to whether he gives up the position or not.

The Goodyear Tire and Rubber plant does not seem to be doing as well as it ought to be, because ten of the seventeen deaf-mutes have been laid off. We wonder if all the rest will be let go the next time.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Wood have been frequently kept back by the recent heavy rains from returning home up in Oxnard. In the meantime they made several calls on their friends and took in the film shows.

Mr. H. Briscoe, nicknamed "Millionaire Henri," has not yet bought an auto since returning from his eastern trip. But he is seriously thinking of purchasing a new "Studebaker," and if he fails to find it suitable to him he may again have a Ford Sedan. He does not know what has become of his old pet Ford that he sold prior to his departure for the east.

There is another newcomer among the deaf, by the name of Mrs. Ruth Sharpnack, who is one of the well known Chicagoans. She was surprised to find so many in Southern California who know her very well.

Those in Los Angeles and its vicinity who know Mr. Lewis Peterson were very glad to welcome him back to the land of sunshine again, after a lapse of three years. There is little change in him, the only fault being thin. He looks as if he had no idea of ever returning north again. He and his wife live at one of the famous beach resorts, called Redondo.

The popularity of the bowling alley among the deaf seems to be waning as the roller skating craze is taking its place and growing in popularity. The deaf enjoy the latest fad on Thursday evenings.

The recent appearance of a conspicuous figure at the clubs attracted the attention of the deaf, who were making inquiries about him. To their surprise, they found it out that the stranger is Mr. G. Redmond, the well-known Silent Artist. It was his first visit to the clubs.

The deaf in Minnesota will be pleased to know that Mr. W. E. Dean is getting along well as ever, and that he devotes the mornings to literary work and the afternoon to walking. He should follow the example of old people playing golf.

Mr. Milton Miller, who has a fine printing office of his own in the rear of his father's cottage, has lately disposed of his "Dodge" after having used it for the past year. He did not intimate that he would purchase a better one. He seems to be quite lonesome without it.

Greensburg, Pa.

Roy Nordstrom, a graduate of the Edgewood School for the Deaf, is employed in Henry Company's paint shop, here in Greensburg.

C. A. Chatham, of Altoona, recently stopped off in town for a brief visit with friends on his return home from Edgewood, where he attended a surprise party in honor of Prof. Teegarden's seventieth birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Pool were among the vast throng who attended Mr. Teegarden's birthday party. They said they enjoyed it hugely.

The Tribune publishers delightedly entertained their employees at a chicken and waffle supper at the Country Club on the 17th ult. "Rex" has been having so many "bully" times ever since he left the Kelly & Jones Company's big brass factory.

Rev. Mr. Snieland delivered an interesting sermon before his silent flock, at Christ Episcopal Church here, on the 19th ult. The subject of his sermon was "Lent and Fasting." He comes to town monthly to preach to the silent flock.

WASHINGTON, D. C.

St. Patrick's day comes but once a year. A time for fun, frolic and laughter. With Saint Patrick, his stick and snakes, We did the stunts that follow after. Irish songs, Irish dances and Irish jokes Brought with us, it was real hearty For every wild did to the bit.

That made a real Irish party.

Under the auspices of the local N. F. S. D., the St. Patrick's Day was celebrated at the Frat hall Friday evening, March 17th.

They wore the shamrocks, the trefoil plant, which is the Irish national emblem. It was one of the jolliest events in local frat history, and it was the most unusual prank of the season. The dances and games were sprinkled with Irish color, shamrocks, sticks and snakes. It is understood that this is the last of the parties to be given by the frats until the Lenten season has passed.

In point of decorations and various committees in charge of the events of the evening more than outdid themselves. St. Patrick was featured everywhere. The front wall was graced with shamrocks, snakes and green.

Likewise the deaf themselves participated in the spirit of the revered old patron saint of Ireland. The head-dress of the committees symbolized the land of the shamrock. The crowd was large and it was appreciated.

Roger Scott, who impersonated "Irish Pat," and Miss Ruth Leitch as his "Molly O," added to the enjoyment of the evening.

A basketful of fresh popcorn sold by Miss Colby, and sealed envelopes containing the fortune sold by Mrs. Vernier were like "hot cakes." So were the shamrocks donated by Mrs. Hannan. Mrs. Marshall wore a unique costume full of pockets, being a grab bag and sold sixty articles donated by the committee. Much credit should be given Mrs. Hannan, who was the chairman who working very diligently to make it a success.

Those who helped Mr. and Mrs. Hannan were Mrs. Colby, Mrs. Vernier, Roger Scott, Mr. and Mrs. R. Smoak, Miss Colby, Miss Leitch, Mrs. Souder and H. A. Davidson. Mr. and Mrs. Hannan wish to thank the committee for their great help, and the Division No. 46 is grateful to the committee of ladies for the service rendered and to retain their valued friendship and interest.

The following deaf are proud possessors of machines: R. Smoak, Ford Touring; D. Smoak, Ford Touring; Prof. Hughes, Chevrolet; A. H. Davidson, Racer Ford; Mr. Lowry, Buick; A. D. Bryant, Allen; Prof. Drake, Ford Touring; Miss Saunders, Chevrolet; Mr. Foce, Racer Ford.

Mrs. Hannan entertained the St. Patrick Committee to a luncheon Tuesday evening, March 21st.

Mrs. R. Boswell, who has been confined at her home for some time with rheumatism is recovering and was seen at the socials.

The card club party was held at the home of Mrs. Cooper Thursday evening, March 16th.

Many deaf are planning to attend the Virginia Convention this coming summer.

"Lit" met Wednesday evening, March 15th, with president Hannan Miss Peet, of Gallaudet College, gave a talk on "Fairly." After which a reception was held.

Mrs. Hall, wife of Dr. Hall, of the Gallaudet College, was one of the visitors at St. Patrick entertainment.

Washington is striking a social pace, but on the stroke of the Lenten period the most of the deaf have retired for some time, but are preparing for the gay Easter Season—(new hats).

Any one who needs any help in housework this spring, write Miss Pearl Lewis, 1060 Jefferson Street, N. W., Georgetown.

It is reported that Miss Sarah Scarborough, of Boston, was married in Ireland. Will the Boston correspondent enlighten us?

"Flu" has been prevalent among the deaf and their families, but not any real severe cases have been reported.

The Illinois deaf here are saying that they would attend the 20th birthday of Chicago Division, No. 1, if they give a "Fraternal" next summer.

Misses Ruth Leitch and Jennie Jones are employed in the accounting department at the Woodward S. Lathrop Department. The young ladies are very popular among the deaf.

Please keep in mind that the business meeting of St. Barnabas Mission and Ladies' Guild will be held at the Parish House of St. John's Episcopal Church, on Wednesday evening, April 12th.

Roger Scott and H. A. Davidson, young men formerly of Virginia, but now of Washington, are employed at the Government Printing office in the Monotype Division. Mr. Davidson has a "racing" Ford painted in red, and a long list of towns, and cities where he has travelled.

Washington is making large plans to have the horse show, which opens on May 12th, one of the most brilliant events in history.

Mrs. Vernier and Miss Colby entertained their hearing friends to a Saint Patrick festival Saturday evening, March 18th.

Rev. Pulver was home Sunday, March 19th. The service was held at the Parish Hall Sunday A.M. The theme was "Love one another." He then rendered 99th Psalm.

The Leitch Zimmerman are the proud possessors of a fine pet lamb, sent to them as a gift from a relative in Maryland.

A social was held at the Calvary Baptist Church, Wednesday evening, March 22d. Some pleasant stories were told by Mr. Galloway, Mr. Flood and Mr. Parker. It was under the management of Mr. Hurwitz, and light refreshments were served.

Dates ahead: April 8th, Smoker (for frats only), April 21st, tableaux at Calvary Baptist Church. May 27th, Lawn Fete at Prof. Drake's farm home, Kendall Green. June 17th, a steamboat excursion to Marshall Hall, Md.

Everybody kindly remember these dates, or, better still, paste them in your hat, so that you will not forget to be on hand when the whistle blows.

MRS. C. C. COLBY.

FANWOOD.

Principal Gardner's many visits to Albany are explained by the passage of an amendment to the law relating to the education of the deaf. All appointments of pupils will hereafter center in the State Board of Education. There will be no so-called "County" pupils except those already appointed, who will be maintained and educated under the law as it stood previous to amendment. Deaf children of five years and over can now be sent to the Fanwood school as State pupils.

Miss Avis Allen has become a champion player by defeating Miss Frances Vogel in a game of ping pong. The latter had not been beaten since the organization of the tournament. The following players form the Ping Pong group: Misses Allen, Vogel, Brenneisen, Bowser, Wood, Hertzlinger, Koblenz, Siegel, Lindhorst, Orlovsky, Ferguson.

On March 30th, Dr. Fox's pupils had the pleasure of helping Dr. Fox move some of his household goods from his old home to his new residence.

At the Fanwood Literary Association meeting of March 30th, President Fox lectured upon the "Moving" before the members, commending the activity of the deaf boys and comparing their quickness with the slow work of regular moving-van workmen.

Miss Barrager has not been here since Wednesday, because of the death of an aged aunt.

Mr. and Mrs. Rosecoe Munger (nee Louisa Clum), a Fanwood graduate of the class of 1879, and their daughter, Mrs. John Wilderock, of Weehawken, N. J., visited her Alma Mater on Wednesday of last week.

Proteans of past years, and honorary members, please send names and addresses to the secretary for further particulars. Read our advertisement in this issue of the DEAF-MUTES' JOURNAL.

On March 30th Principal Gardner went to Albany on Institution business.

Miss Groht and Mrs. Goodson, formerly teachers here, and now teachers at the Maryland State School for the Deaf, visited their old friends at this Institution on March 31st.

Mr. Wm. M. V. Hoffman, Vice-President of the Board of Directors, was here on April 2d.

There will be a basket ball match between the Fanwood tossers and the College Settlement, at the latter's court, on Saturday evening, April 8th, at eight o'clock. The Fanwood players wish the readers of this column to go to see the game, as our basket ball season will close with the April 8th game.

The composition and press work on the Annual Report has been completed. Cadet Captain Louis Cassinelli is the pupil who made the cover design this year, and all who see it will agree with the writer that it is a beautiful design, and great credit to him as well as to his Art teacher.

Church Services for the Deaf.

Go to Church Every Sunday. That is the slogan of our church now. We live in a Christian country. Our deaf institutions were founded in many cases by ministers anxious for the moral, spiritual and mental welfare of the children who were cut off by the lack of hearing from the ordinary understanding of every day living. Dr. Thomas H. Gallaudet, father and son, were ministers. Dr. Brown, who founded this Western Pennsylvania Institution was the pastor of the Third Presbyterian Church of Pittsburgh. Dr. Philip G. Gillette, formerly Superintendent of the Illinois Institution, was an elder of the Methodist Church. These and others were the religious fathers of the deaf.

Let the deaf carry on what their benefactors started. In a few cities there are deaf ministers and lay readers, but there are many cities and towns without any deaf minister. Let the deaf of such places get together and find some hearing man or woman who can sign well. Let them go to some church of any denomination and ask for seats where the deaf can worship God. The Trinity Episcopal Church has its state deaf missionary and deaf lay reader. Three churches, the 8th Street, Reformed Presbyterian, the Belvedere Baptist, and the Wilkesburg First Presbyterian Church, have interpreters. The Lutherans have a hearing missionary who knows signs well.

Let the deaf remember the training of their school days—the daily morning chapel services, Sunday school lessons and Sunday services. Let them go to church and become members. Let them be loyal to the Christ who healed the deaf, and whose ministers founded schools and churches for the deaf.

Obituary

Mrs. Charlotte A. Fairman died in Worcester, March 6th, aged ten days less than 78 years. Mrs. Fairman was well known to the older generation of the deaf. She and her husband were familiar figures at all deaf conventions, far and near, for many years. Mr. Fairman dropped dead in the outside porch of All Saints' Church in Worcester some years ago, while on his way to the Silent Mission Service. Mr. Frisbee having just begun the Service inside the Church when the event happened. According to news items published in Hartford and Worcester papers a few days after the funeral, Mrs. Fairman left by will $1000 to Christ Episcopal Church, Hartford, where she and her husband for many years belonged; $1000 to the Hartford School for the Deaf, to be used for industrial training. Some six years ago, she left $15,000 to the Home for Aged Deaf, Everett, and three years ago she gave $200 to the St. Andrews Silent Mission Building Fund. On Ash Wednesday, your minister called to see her, en route Boston to Hartford. She had been in the hospital all winter, having had a very serious surgical operation, but was convalescent and was boarding with a hearing friend. She seemed very bright and comfortable, and told of her plans to open her home in May and spend the summer there as usual, and that she hoped to attend another Deaf Convention—that at Hartford—next September, the last one she attended being at Providence, R.I., in September, 1920. Five days after this conversation she was stricken with heart failure and slid from her chair to the floor, was carried to her to her bed, but before the doctor arrived, she had passed away. Christ, her great physician, had called her to her rest.—St. Andrew's Mission Leaflet.

The Home for aged Deaf-Mutes has sustained a severe loss in the death of Mrs. Charlotte A. Fairman, of Worcester, which occurred on Monday the 6th instant. Her interest in the Home was very great, and she and her husband were visitors at the Home when in health.

A secret in the keeping of Miss Emily A. Goldsmith and the Treasurer may now be divulged. Mr. Hubbard announced nearly six years ago that a fund approximating $15,000 which he termed the "John Smith Fund" had been placed in his hands under a Deed of Trust by a donor who wished his name withheld from publicity until after his death. The income of this fund was to be given to the Home, and has been reported in each annual report since that time as from P. Hubbard, Trustee. This income has been of inestimable value to the Home in meeting its expenses.

Mr. Hubbard now announces that the mysterious John Smith was none other than Mrs. Charlotte A. Fairman. The Fund will henceforth be known as the "Henry M. and Charlotte A. Fairman Fund," and will be kept in perpetuity as a Fund by the Trustees of the Home. "She being dead yet speaketh," and her memory will ever be green in our hearts. Thank God for such a friend.—New England Spokesman.

A few words of information in a letter postal card is sufficient. We will "o the best."

XAVIER NOTES

President Sylvester J. Fogarty, recently up from an attack of the flu, wants to know why no local newspaperman gave the JOURNAL details of the Xavier De l'Epee Society's Valentine Party. Without any padding, Syl says near to 200 attended, and everyone of them had an adorable time. Sylvester doesn't crave publicity for himself, but for the De l'Epeeans of the Xavier fold, he is concerned.

At the March meeting of the X. E. S., Father Dalton announced a revival of his Reverend predecessor's custom of holding on the first Sunday of April at 3 o'clock the Stations of the Cross in the lower church of St. Francis Xavier.

Since the change at Fanwood of allowing the pupils to spend Saturday and Sunday at home went into effect, Catechism and Sunday School classes at St. Rose Church are now held on Friday evening. Owing to night newspaper work, Mr. John F. O'Brien, associated with the Seminarians and Rev. Father McCaffrey, for near to twenty years past, has reluctantly been compelled to discontinue the work. Still, Father McCaffrey found new teachers. President Thomas J. Cosgrove of the X. E. S. was one of the first to proffer his services. A former pupil of Principal Gardner during his teaching career at Fanwood, and a pupil at St. Rose's, Tom is well fitted for the work.

Associated with him are Messrs. Jere Fives, William H. May and John O'Donnell, Misses Kate Lamberson, Josephine Stas, Beatrice Chanler, Mrs. R. Drennan and Miss Kathleen Mullally, a member of St. Joseph's Institute staff, and an experienced Catechist.

You might say it with flowers, or you might say it with a spread of Del's. Either way, you can hand it to Miss Mae Ellen Austra, who is stunting her pin money in expectation of handing over to the X. E. S. a cool hundred as result of the recent Vandeville Show.

"Irish Night" at "Casey" Institute, Brooklyn, on the last monthly session of the Xavier De l'Epee Society, brought out a jolly good attendance. Dr. Thomas F. Fox, whose ancestors hailed from the Old Dart, was the bright particular star, regaling and enlightening the guests with a resume of "Ireland—To day and Yesterday." The funny story contest was won by Tom O'Neil, Tom Gillen and Dick Bowden tying for second place. Austin Forgary was up with the winners, but magistrate's decision prevailed. Others who sported as jokesters were James Lonergan, Mrs. Richard Drennan, Miss Mary Austra, "Pop" Gilmartin and "Pop" Farrell, 76 years young.

A letter from Chicago, tells us Ed. Toomey is booming things for Ephpheta of that burg. And that with $20,000 to draw upon Father Mahan, S. J., is hopeful of starting an Ephpheta Center building in the early Spring. On top of that comes the information, Ephpheta Centers in other sections are prosperous and active.

H. A. D. NOTES.

"The Breaking of the Mold" was the subject of an interesting lecture given by Rev. A. J. Amatean last Friday evening, March 31st.

This Friday, April 7th, Dr. Thomas F. Fox will be the speaker. His topic will be on "The Strength of the Mighty." All welcome.

Beaten but not discouraged, the Robertson Girls of the H. A. D. received the worst drubbing in their brief basketball career, at the hands of the strong Manhattan A. C. Lassies, by the score of 22 to 0.

The H. A. D. Senior Team defeated the H. A. D. Junior to the time of 39 to 7. This Sunday, the 9th, they play against the Lexington School boys.

Please don't forget our Athletic Carnival next Saturday evening, April 15th. Professional talent will positively appear.

"How do you do?" "Am glad to see you!" were exchanged between the members of the Neighborhood Circle and guests on Saturday afternoon, March 25th last, in the cosy apartment of Miss Berley, whose innocent victim was Miss Howard, the originator of the Circle. The members of the circle, being present, were Mrs. Buhle, Mrs. McMahon and Mrs. Pfeiffer.

The absent members were Mrs. Haight, who was laid up with illness at Mrs. Style's in Philadelphia, and Mrs. Barnes who sent regrets. The invited guests were Miss Gallaudet and Mrs. Halvey.

The afternoon was pleasantly spent in conversation and fine refreshments were served followed by toast-making, for the day before was Miss Howard's birthday and it was indeed a surprise to her. Presents were showered upon her and a birthday cake, with one lighted candle representing one day older, was cut and passed around by Miss Howard.

Miss Howard entertained the members of the Neighborhood Circle on the 29th at afternoon tea. Miss V. B. Gallaudet was an honored guest of the Circle, and Mrs. M. Style was also present and helped to make the gathering a very pleasant occasion. The latter accompanied Mrs. Haight from Philadelphia the day previous and returned on Friday.

Miss Eda Fosmire, daughter of Mrs. Isabella S. Fosmire, has announced her engagement to Dr. George Prosper, of Troy, N. Y. Miss Fosmire has resided in Saratoga, N. Y., all her life, and her mother has visited her once or twice every year. She is a handsome young lady, and a well educated, capable business woman.

Sunday morning, 26th of March, Mr. Stolorow left home for Hartford, Ct., with her daughter, Sarah, to visit her brother, Sam Cohen, whose son was married on that night. They had a splendid time. Mrs. Stolorow stayed there only two days, but Sarah stayed there for one week.

Dr. Edwin W. Nies has removed his dental office to 17 West 93d Street, New York City. His office telephone is Riverside 7704. His residence, however, will be the same as heretofore, at 149th Street in the Washington Heights district.

Miss Rosa Halpen, of Rochester, N. Y., is a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. McMann this week. Miss Halpen retired from the teaching corps of the Rochester Institute several years ago, after a service of thirty years.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris Seaman (nee Sarah Prager) announce the arrival of a 13 pound baby girl on Wednesday, March 29th, 1922, at the Brownsville and East New York Hospital. Mother and child are doing well.

Milton Alias, 6, a deaf mute, of 254 Riverdale Avenue, Brooklyn, was killed on March 27th, by a motor truck, at Riverdale and Throat Avenue. Henry Woolley, of 755 Cleveland Street, Brooklyn, the driver, was arrested.

William Lipgens will visit Germany for a month during the coming summer. He has already engaged passage on a Hamburg liner that sails from New York on June 27th.

Will Quinlan has this year four etchings at the New York Academy of Design. Also four etchings on tour among the big places in Australia.

The elder sister of Mrs. Stolorow, of Brooklyn, died on March 7th. She lived for fourteen years with her son, Charles Frankel, who is a lawyer.

OFFICIAL NOTICE

Semi-annual meeting of the Great or New York Branch, N. A. D. will be held in the Guild Room of St. Ann's Church, 511 West 148th Street, New York, Thursday evening, May 4th, 1922. All welcome. Members, especially, are urged to attend.

JOHN H. KENT,
Secretary.

MARCUS L. KENNER,
President.

In Memoriam

WHEREAS, Our Heavenly Father has in his wisdom seen fit to remove from our midst our beloved Brother Roy Theodore Wheeler; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Brooklyn Division, No. 23, of the National Fraternal Society of the Deaf, has lost one of its most valuable members by his death. He was honest, industrious, earnest and helpful in promoting the interests of the Division.

Resolved, That we extend to his wife and relatives our sincere sorrow over the death of one of our sincere friends.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be handed to his wife, and copies be furnished to the DEAF-MUTES' JOURNAL, the Frat, and that these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of the Brooklyn Division, No. 23, N. F. S. D.

The United States Pharmacopoeia is being translated into the Chinese language, and it is believed that through the adoption of American standard formulas for medicines and drugs the American drug trade will benefit largely.

Fruit valued at twice that of Alaska's gold was raised this year in the Yakima Valley of Washington. In their best year the Alaskan gold fields produced $22,000,000, while the value of Yakima's fruit is $50,000,000 this year.

CHICAGO.

Deaf jurors wax from gay to grave
As Pas Club lawyers rant rave
With red-hot hand and angry arm
In stinging signs designed to charm;
Then alleged-lawyer, crook, and cop,
Will celebrate with lemon pop.

Defying the gale outside, a good crowd enjoyed a gale of giggles at the Pas-a-Pas Club, March 25th, when that mock trial came off before Judge Dougherty's court, under the auspices of the literary committee.

Clerk Benjamin Franklin read the charge: "Witness all women by these platonic presents, cometh now one, Chestnut C. Codman, who being duly sworn at disposes and says: 'At the Pas masquerade, February 25th, 1922, I was a poor old blind man, and that there crook Chesterfield Craig swiped a coin from my tin cup while I was looking at ladies—eer—limbs.'"

Jonathan Purdum prosecuted the case, demanding Justice—he spelled it "Just Ice." This was objected to by counsel for defense on the ground that Justice is blind, and therefore liable to be biased towards a fellow-blindman.

Testimony of witnesses took an hour and a half. For the prosecution Mrs. Hunter, Mrs. Russell, Mrs. Long, Ruda, White and Borinstein starred. White was compelled to smoke a loaded cigarette lit from an exploding match—but neither worked well and the laugh was on the defense. Ruda, a Russian emigrant who can't read or spell a word of English, was expected to prove a monkey on the witness stand; instead his story, given in emphatic natural signs, remained unshaken to the delight of the onlookers. Borinstein in masquerade costume was a feature.

Witnesses for the defense also did well. W. Smith was somewhat rattled, but his testimony got by on the plea he suffered St. Vitus' dance. "Roscoe Arbuckle" (Marsh) proved an alibi, and testified Craig never was a good baseball player, being so honest he would never learn to steal bases. "Mabel Normand" (Miss Scott) testified Craig was so honest that whenever he stole a kiss he promptly repented and put the kiss back where he got it from. "Mrs. Craig" (Mrs. Young) testified Codman was trying to railroad Craig because she refused to desert him for the Montana cattle king. "Mary Lygo" (Mrs. Zollinger) asserted Codman was jealous because Craig was a better bootlegger. "Abraham Isaac Jacob Levy" (Kaufman) asserted his real name was "Patrick Mike O'Leary," despite his Jewish masquerade make-up and his racial mannerisms. "O'Leary" held to his Irish descent thru a severe cross-examination, and finally admitted it was he who stole the coin from Codman. There were other witnesses, and finally Craig himself took the chair and, admitting taking the coin, justified the act by the fact he is state bank examiner and confiscated the money as counterfeit.

A verdict of not guilty was returned by the jury, composed of Wallack, Hartung, George Brasher and his father, and Mesdames Barrow, Flick, Dougherty, Freeman, Roberts, Knightair and LaMotte.

Whereupon "His Dis-Honor" discharged them. The Chicago Chapter of the Illinois Association of the Deaf has issued printed announcements of a Bazaar and Cafeteria for the benefit of the Home Fund, May 20th, from 11 A.M. to midnight, at All Angels. Donations in the way of money or other useful articles will be acceptable. Mrs. B. F. Frank, the chairman, announces the following committees:

Fancy Work Booth—Mesdames, G. T. Dougherty, G. F. Flick, P. J. Hasenstab, Wm. Borinstein, J. F. Meagher and A. L. Roberts.
Men's Booth—Wm. LaMotte, W. Barrow, F. S. Offerlee and J. Wondra.
Fish Pond—Mesdames, G. S. Hyman, J. E. Purdum and Wm. McGann.

Parcel Post Booth—G. A. Sprague, F. Young and Mrs. H. D. Wirt.
Candy Booth—Miss Gertude Fulton Mesdames, F. Young, T. Kaufman, J. K. Watson and G. Schriver.
Cafeteria—Mesdames L. Rutherford, F. Hartung, W. Barrow, J. Miller, L. Brasher, Wm. Tell, E. Fuller, F. Spaulding, Wm. Heagle, F. Hyman.

Finance—B. F. Frank, T. O. Gray and F. A. Martin.
The Rev. G. F. Fieck rendered Shakespeare's "Julius Caesar" in the St. Paul clubhouse March 25th.

Carlson, the tailor, is mailing a handsome colored style folder to prospects among the silents. He is in business for himself at 5723 Madison Street.

This seems to be the golden era of Smiths. Col. Oscar C. Smith is head of the State School; Glenn Smith the ex-National wrestling champion, is president of the Citizens Trust Bank through which the deaf of "Flickville" do their banking business.

Leslie Larson had an unique ad in the "Situations Wanted" columns of Sunday's Tribune. That youngster knows what he wants, and how to get it.

Fred Young desires it announced that the Ontario Association of the Deaf will hold its convention at Brantford, Ont., (Canada) June 17 to 20 inclusive.

Miss Nina Williams, of Lansing, Mich., spent a week's visit with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Boudier.

Another of Chicago's "Old Reliabilities" is to sever the ties that bind Mrs. Dora McCoy has bidden her friends good-bye and leaves shortly for New England, as companion to a wealthy old lady from down state—Virginia Butler by name.

Miss Ruth Mendelson, a charming, accomplished young oralist from Albany, N. Y., spent several weeks here.

Mrs. Fanny Hunter's daughter is spending a month in Florida, visiting her father.

The oralist held a dance on the 25th. Harry M. Rogers, Lafayette, Ind. has been visiting here.

Dates ahead. April 15—"See America Thirst" party, Pas. 16—Easter services at All Angels' and other churches. 22—Exhibition of magic, Sac, benefit of Mrs. Nels Oleson. 29—Shirtwaist dance at Sac. Literary Hash at Pas.

THE MEAGHERS.

DETROIT.

The business meeting of the Detroit Branch of the N. A. D. was held at the D. A. D. Hall March 24th. Every officer was present with the exception of Treasurer Peter N. Hellers, who was working on the afternoon shift at Ford's. His absence naturally stunted the progress of the most vital part of the meeting, that of obtaining the exact number of bona fide members in good standing. It is a certainty, if banking upon the attendance that responded to the call of Secretary Jones, that the local Branch of the senior organization will be a permanent fixture in Detroit.

After the usual routine of business, President Kenny of the local Branch announced that Mr. Geo. Tripp, President of the Michigan Association of the Deaf, and for many years a teacher at the Flint School, would address the members. The theme of Mr. Tripp's address was upon the great benefit the N. A. D. would be to the Deaf of Detroit and other Michigan cities.

Before branching out upon his subject he conveyed to the audience the respect and good wishes of our old friend and teacher, Prof. Willis Hubbard, now retired upon a pension from the State. He brought out tremendous applause when he informed the vast crowd that our grand old teacher desired the members to stand valiantly behind their guns in defending the N. A. D., and that all should join in and give three silent cheers for its success.

Mr. Tripp then turned to the coming of the Michigan Association of the Deaf Convention in June. He impressed upon all, that next to the N. A. D., they should make the coming reunion one of the greatest events in the annals of Michigan. He also lauded the new Superintendent, I. B. Gilbert, to the sky. He is the right man in the right place, says President Tripp.

Of the coming State Convention, President Tripp said circulars are being sent out to all graduates and former pupils whose addresses are in possession of the secretary. The opening of the reunion will be on Thursday evening, June 15th, and close Monday morning, June 19th. (You Michigan deaf paste this in your hat so as not to forget). The nominal sum of one dollar per day will be charged for board. This applies for all adults and children over five years old. In order to enjoy the low rates for board, and also of enlarging the Association's influence in its various activities, every one attending is expected to be enrolled as a member. The fee is only fifty cents. An interesting programme is being prepared. It will consist of several business sessions, a "Frat night" for the members of that order, a banquet, athletic contest, religious service, and perhaps a movie. On opening day, Superintendent Gilbert will deliver the address of welcome. The Association not only extends an invitation to our alumni to become members, but goes further and welcomes all those deaf from other schools who have become residents of Michigan to join. Also another important move will be to merge the Michigan Association and the Michigan N. A. D. into one. This project met with a great deal of approval by Detroit and Flint members. The others will have a chance to air their views upon it at the convention. Any Michigan pupil residing in other States, who fails to receive a circular, will be conferring a favor upon the officers by writing to the secretary, E. M. Bristol, 424 Buckham Street, Flint, Mich. A circular will be immediately forwarded.

A most unique but delightful entertainment was given at the D. A. D., March 25th. "Flea Social" was the astonishing announcement made. Chairman Helena Warsaw was the originator of the idea. It was given under the auspices of the Ladies' Auxiliary. However, the proceeds went to swell the funds of the D. A. D. Treasury. A record breaking crowd turned out and a tidy sum was realized.

Miss Nina Williams, of Lansing, Mich., spent a week's visit with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Boudier.

E. M. Jacobs is now employed in one of Detroit's Radio industries. E. M. Jacobs was the first mute to work at Ford Motor Company when it first started, thus having the way for others to get jobs there. We hope the same luck will meet the deaf in his new venture.

Miss Matilda Stark spent a pleasant visit in Ypsilanti with Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Smith.

Mrs. Lawrence Lynch, of Bay City, after spending a month visiting relatives in Ypsilanti, stopped in on her way home to visit her chum and schoolmate, Mrs. Peter N. Hellers. Mrs. Hellers' luck still pursues her, as she was one of the prize winners at the Flea party.

Miss Frances McMahon has been laid up with a touch of the flu. The good ladies of the Guild are looking after her welfare.

Frank Friday, who always seemed to be husky built and of robust health, suddenly collapsed and was conveyed to the Highland Park Hospital, where an operation was performed upon him for appendicitis. Latest report is that he is on the road to health again.

The following clipping from the News of March 29th, may be of interest to the deaf. Wm. K. Liddy is well known, and only recently lost his wife through death.

DEAF MUTE MISSING.

Detroit police were asked today to aid in a search for William K. Liddy, 60 years old and deaf and dumb, a retired business man, who left his home, 439 Queller Avenue, Windsor, Monday. A son reported his disappearance.

Mrs. Laura Walker was tendered a pleasant surprise partly March 27th, the occasion being another milestone reached. It was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Halsey Day, and the Guild ladies were responsible for the pleasant evening. The usual custom of making presents was observed.

The next drawing crowd will be Judge Keiden's address before the D. A. D., April 8th.

During the stay of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. F. Tripp in Detroit, they were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Heymans.

Mrs. William Wells, of Royal Oak, was another outside, who came to see what a "Flea Social" looked like. She returned home in time to meet her husband at Ford's, who quits work at midnight.

Hazleton, Pa.

John E. Barnes, former student of Mt. Airy Institute for the Deaf, is now employed as linotype operator at the Plain Speaker, a leading paper in Hazleton, Pennsylvania.

Samuel M. Joseph, formerly of St. Joseph's Institute, Westchester, New York City, for the Deaf, was recently promoted to assistant foreman of the Weaving Department in Duplan Silk Mill Corp., Hazleton, Pennsylvania. He has been employed as a weaver for three years and being experienced in his good work was the cause of his promotion. Congratulations.

Dummy Mack, the Hazleton mute pugilist, defeated Joe Hardy, of Wilkes Barre. He was trained by Steve Latzo, who is next to Jack Britton the world's champion welterweight. Steve Latzo claimed that Mack was the toughest boxer and has more skill and terrible punch. Steve said he will push him up to the lightweight champion. Mack is scheduled to meet Trim Droney at Scranton, Pa., on April 15th.

A baby girl was born to Mr. and Mrs. Michael Kuchar, of Milnesville, Pa., near Hazleton, on March 1st, 1922. Mrs. Kuchar was doing nicely. Both were former students of Mt. Airy Institution for the Deaf. Mrs. Kuchar was Mary Radusky, of Mahonoy, Pa.

Elizabeth Chereynock, of Milnesville, Pa., near Hazleton, who is employed in the quilting department in Duplan Silk Mill, was married to Lloyd Charlesworth, of Pottstown, Pa., with Blanche Melinsky, of Hazleton, being the bridesmaid. Dummy Mack was the bridegroom. They left for Denver, Colorado, on a honeymoon and will take up housekeeping at Pottstown where Mr. Charlesworth is employed in the Italian Publishing Co.

Mr. John Stauffer, of Hazleton, an artist, formerly of Mt. Airy Institution for the Deaf, is coming to Hazleton for Easter vacation. He will be graduated next June and will take up shoemaking business in his hometown, Hazleton, Pa.

The Silent Social Club of Hazleton, has the following officers elected for another term.

Clarence Reinmiller, President; Mike Kuchar, Vice-President; Sam M. Joseph, Secretary; Dummy Mack, Treasurer; John E. Barnes, Trustee, and Mr. Charlesworth.

Silent Martin is wanted to box in Hazleton, Pa. He is to write to Mr. John E. Barnes, 25 W. Cranberry Avenue, West Hazleton, Pa., so as to get the promoter to talk about getting a match for him.

The Laplander wears two or three of the same garments, one over the other, including two pairs of shoes filled with dried grass, and two pairs of gloves stuffed with hay.

PITTSBURGH.

The largest gathering of the Western Pennsylvania deaf lately was that in the chapel of the Edgewood School on the occasion of Mr. Teegarden's 70th birthday celebration. Ab. ut 150 former pupils of the school besides many associates and friends caught him napping for once truly. Many came from quite a distance, so that it seemed much like an alumni meeting. A long congratulatory program was carried out greatly to the delight of the gathering seemingly, but hardly so to the recipient of the encomiums. Nevertheless, he lived through it and tried to show his appreciation for the remembrance and congratulations presented. A reception and refreshments followed the chapel program and the large company enjoyed the get-together feature of the occasion apparently. More than 250 contributed to the testimonial. The purse, a handsome one, contained $127.88. Mr. Teegarden also received many birthday cards and personal letters as well as some telegrams, all bearing hearty congratulations and good-will. It is safe to say Mr. Teegarden will not soon forget his seventieth birthday. His only regret, he says, was his inability to express his appreciation sufficiently.

The Pittsburgh Division, No. 36, N. F. S. D., had a St. Patrick Social March 18th. It drew a considerable crowd and a good program was carried out. It was Irish all through, of course, and the Shamrock and green ribbons were bountifully in evidence. The Dialogue and Income Tax Tangle were laughable productions. The Mock Wedding too unique in detail and make-up. Talks and stories followed the program, and not a few wits exercised their Irish, much to the amusement of all present.

We have information that Daniel Cusack, of Coraopolis had some experience recently in the role of impostor sleuth, but we are sorry to say his efforts were not crowned with success. He spotted a couple of individuals, a man and a woman, playing deaf and dumb and peddling trinkets and raking in a rich harvest. He felt sure they were impostors and tried to get the police in his town and Sewickley to act in the matter, but they were slow getting started on the trial that the peddlers had time to make themselves scarce. Daniel had a nice auto ride with the officers in their efforts to spot the offenders, however, so he had some compensation for his time and effort in a good cause—more success to him the next time.

The business depression hereabouts still keep many of our folks on the idle bench, waiting for something to turn up. Some are being reduced to distress.

George Korn, who had been out for months, was given work at the Switch and Signal Company's plant at Swissvale last week. Efforts are being made to place others.

Richard LeVier, who has had steady work at the Rankin Porcelain plant, met with a serious accident a week or so ago, by which he lost the whole of his left index finger while at work. This is certainly very regrettable and he will necessarily be idle for sometime. The company, however, is taking care of him and when able will be put on his job again.

The Pittsburgh N. A. D. Branch will present a dramatic entertainment April 29th. A live committee is now preparing for the same, and it is likely to be a number one affair, so those who like to be entertained had better save up for it. Keep the date in mind, brother Nads, and bring your best girl along.

OREGON—WASHINGTON.

Geo. W. Kreidt was sick one day with flu, but rest in a warm bed sent him back well the next day to his work.

Chauncey Dickey had a tussle with flu that did not keep him from work at the coopeage, but did send him one full Sunday to bed for a preventive.

Michael Schlaechter is thinking of retiring from city life to the farm, which is run on a partnership basis by the Eatons at Salado, Mike has a big heat and has been the helping hand for many a stranded deaf-mute.

Mrs. Horace Weston went to Bremerton and sold her property. She will make her permanent residence in Vancouver, where her husband has a steady job as foreman and floor manager in the cannery.

Ed. C. Langlois thinks I know nothing about poetry. He is correct. There is no poetry or music in my make up. If he aspires to poet laureateship of Washington, he is invited to contribute to these columns.

Theo. C. Mueller is reported to have bought 160 acres in the vicinity. He claims he has not the funds necessary. Five acres here are enough to keep any one busy and provide a living income with luxuries and comforts. But he has not yet bought any place.

Mr. and Mrs. Rudy Stuhrt, of Bermerton, are reported to be visiting in this vicinity, on their way to inspect the fruit holdings they own in partnership with Rudy's brother, north of Spokane.

The mutes in Topeka, Kansas, have a fine big social club. It held a fine masquerade ball at the home of Alexander C. and Jessie McQuiddy Dreyer, on February 18th. Many came from Kansas City, Leavenworth and Lawrence.

Blanche, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Dreyer, was recently married to Lee Harper, who is a mail clerk in the Topeka Post Office.

The mother of Fannie Taylor Harshman, of Denver, Col., Bessie Taylor Wait, of Wichita, Kansas and Luther Taylor of Olathe, Kan., died this month and was buried at her home in Baldwin, Kansas.

Mrs. Fred Becker (Altman) was sick with flu, as was Mrs. Ed. Funk (Pine McMurray), at their home in Topeka, but have recovered.

Alex. C. Dreyer wrote me they were having fine weather in Kansas, it brought an open springlike winter. Then I picked up the daily paper which told of a blizzard raging in Kansas and of their transcontinental being lost somewhere in that blizzard!

WEST VIRGINIA

On Saturday evening, March 18th, the Chapel of the West Virginia School for the Deaf was the scene of much hilarity. An original farce from the fertile mind of Mr. Friemel, instructor in carpentry at the school, produced abundant fun and laughter. The entertainment was replete with sleight-of-hand tricks, comics, and acrobatic stunts. The entire cast did creditably well for amateurs; but the acting of Mr. Friemel, both as a magician and a comedian, was the outstanding feature of the evening. Mr. Friemel is a deaf man well in the thirties and we doubt if there is any other deaf person who is his equal in the art of "mysticism."

Contrary to predictions the attendance was not large. This was largely on account of other local attractions on the same night.

Radio Novelty at the Hippodrome

Keenly alive to the present nationwide interest wireless and particularly in the development of the radiophone for practical uses, Charles Dillingham announces that the next radiocontrolled convenience of modern civilization which will engross the public attention, the wireless automobile, will be given a practical and also a scientific demonstration as the new feature of "Get Together" at the Hippodrome beginning Monday, April 3rd.

Mr. Dillingham announces that the demonstration of the wireless automobile which inaugurates the thirty first week of "Get Together", will not result in the elimination of any of the other Hippodrome features and favorites, which include the ice baller, "The Red Shoes" from the Admiral's Ice Palace, Berlin, with Charlotte, Katie Schmidt, Howard Nicholson, Paul Kreckow, and Steele and Winslow; the ballet, "The Butterflies and the Bees," with Elna Hansen, Senia Gluckoff and Happy Lambert, Bert Levy, Joe Jackson, Ferry, Corwey, the Three Bobs and their crew, "Joeko," the Graf Trio, the Ducos Brothers, Powers' Performing Elephants, the Happy Hoboes, headed by "Toots" and Marceline.
